Stamp Collecting not so Foolish after all.

There is no pastime of the present day more instructive, than that of collecting postage stamps. Stamps were invented and first used in Great Britain in 1840, and have since been gradually adopted by almost every country of the globe, China being the last to introduce them, though the first to use coined money. We are frequently asked the use or sense of collecting "those dirty bits of paper?" To such querists we say "what is the use of collecting oil paintings, old china, pottery and bric-a-brac of all kinds? There are thousands of persons who do it and derive no instruction from it compared to what they would learn from stamp collecting. From the latter we learn geography, history, language and arithmetic. Take for example the one penny (1865) stamp of Bermuda. We see the name and naturally ask where are the Bermudas, we take our atlas and find that they are a group of islands in the Atlantic ocean, about 800 miles east of Charlestown, S. C. We see the profile of Queen Victoria on the stamp, and thereby know the islands belong to Great Britain. The one penny next attracts our attention, how much is a penny? about two cents. Thus we learn where countries are situated, their rulers, the kind of money they use, the numerals of their language, and also learn to make the finest distinctions between colors; to tell steel engravings from wood-cuts or lithographs, and many other useful items of knowledge. Now parents and guardians when you see your children and wards engaged in this instructive amusement, do not discourage them from it, but give them every assistance and encouragement in your power to send their orders to the Dominion Bazaar Co., Toronto, Ont., and if they wish to make a little pocket money, give them a start in an Agency for our cheap genuine Stamp Packets.

ENGLISH PENNY POSTAGE STAMP.—The firm in London manufacturing postage stamps since the institution of the penny post by steel engraving, which gives security against counterfeits, will loose the contract next Christmas, when it will be given to an eminent firm of stationers in London. In January next a new design will be issued. It will be printed as letterpress, which, although not so proof against forgeries, satisfies the requirements of the P. O. D. Economical motives caused change. The old firm will be obliged to discharge about 200 hands. Lots of room in Canada for them, and a fine chance "to make their stamps." They can also bring their sisters and their cousins and their aunts.
